

Our innovative assessments help us match your skills and professional goals to a 'best fit' profession in Canada's healthcare sector.

Empowering you

We see the unique talents and diverse experiences you bring to your profession. We are here to help you put your skills and knowledge into practice so you can unlock your full potential and achieve your professional goals.

We use multiple-choice tests and in-person clinical simulations to assess your skills, knowledge, and competencies. We review your educational credentials, English language proficiency, and competencies through innovative assessments.

Our results help you, regulators, and employers determine the next steps on your career path.

Education credential reports

The educational credential review confirms that you completed an accredited nursing education program.

To qualify to practice in Canada, you must have your educational credentials reviewed by an authorized agency.

Note: Application requirements are subject to change. See our website for the most up-to-date information.

Your application checklist

- Create your account at www.inspireassessments.org
- Upload your application form
- Upload 2 forms of government issued and notarized ID documents
- Have your education credential report submitted
- Submit your English language proficiency documents
- Complete your competency assessments
- Apply to BC College of Nurses & Midwives (BCCNM)

*Notarization

- Your ID must be notarized prior to uploading to your account.
- We can only accept notarizations from a lawyer or notary public.
- Please see our website for a list of accepted forms of ID.

